Q: Playframework 2.4.x - EL expression not found for constant I have the below play framework 2.4 code: @(students: List[Student])(implicit request: RequestHeader) @layout.students.studentForm(students) In my views/students/_studentForm.scala.html page I have the following code: @helper.form(action = routes.StudentForm.save(student), 'action', 'class', 'method', 'submit') { ... } And i get the error that the expression'students' is not found. I have looked for solutions online, but none seem to be applicable. Also a little context: I'm new to Play Framework and Scala. Am I doing something wrong? A: The syntax in your template is correct, and it's working the way you expect it. I suspect that students in your template is a property rather than a parameter, in which case, the name of the property needs to be prefixed with @ to be evaluated in the template. Try changing it to the following and see if it works:

@(students: List[Student])(implicit request: RequestHeader) @layout.students.studentForm(@students) Q: textbox return value not working I have a simple markup to code a form and an input field and show the value: ` function showQ(){ var q = $('q').val(); alert(q); } showQ();` I also included a default value: "Get a Quote". I keep running the script but nothing happens except for the default value. I guess the problem is with the alert but I cannot figure it out. Any help is appriciated. A: You're missing the call to the function, try putting the function call before the alert, and adjusting the name as well: function show

Q: Find the limit of the sequence $\left(\cos\left(\frac{\pi\cdot(x+1)}{3}\right) \right)$ $\left(\cos\left(\frac{\pi\cdot(x+1)}{3}\right) \right)$ I am told to take this sequence and find the limit, but I can't find it. How should I approach this? A: The sequence does not have a limit. If you take the limit, you find $+1$ or -1, which is not the same as the cosine. Time to get more meaty.
