Matt Groening's Blockhead ran as a series of animated shorts on Adult Swim in 2001-02. It was short-lived, but its unique visuals and characters were beloved by fans. Garsh is a side-scrolling game on the Nintendo Wii U that follows Blockhead's adventures after the end of the show. It recently came out in the US, and while it has some cool graphics and a big cast of characters from the series, it also runs the risk of being forgotten by some. In an interview with Polygon, Garsh developer David Albano says that there are plans to create a new version that will take advantage of the Wii U's GamePad and support for local wi-fi multiplayer. "I've really enjoyed developing and playing through Garsh, and I have to say that while I am a huge fan of the original Garsh, I think that this new 'Garsh Classic' will be better by far because it can actually fully exploit the GamePad and wi-fi," said Albano in an email. "I think that for fans who love the original Garsh, the wi-fi mode is perfect for finding new people to play with, and creating your own wacky characters that you can then share with your friends over wi-fi. Plus, you can't really beat the fact that this new classic game is co-op, which was something I always wanted for the original Garsh." Albano also said that he's planning to release a new downloadable content pack containing the original Garsh for $5.

Q: How to convert pandas dataframe to dictionary? I am trying to convert pandas dataframe to dictionary. This is my attempt:

import re
def ff(a):
    return dict([('name', a['name']), ('clicks', a['clicks']), ('dep_date', a['dep_date'])])
def ff2(a):
    return {'clicks': a['clicks'],
```

```
'dep_date': a['dep_date']} def ff3(a): return dict([('name', a['name'])]) df = pd.DataFrame(a={'name': ['aaaa', 'bbbb',
'cccc'], 'clicks': [1, 2, 3], 'dep_date': [1, 2, 3]}) dict(ff(df['name']), df) dict(map(ff, df.index)) def ff4(df): return pd.DataFrame(sorted(list(df)), columns=['name']) ff4(df) But I get the following error: TypeError: ff() takes no keyword arguments A: You can use sorted dictionary with list comprehension and check if value is not duplicated: df =
pd.DataFrame(a={'name': ['aaaa', 'bbbb',
'cccc'], 'clicks': [1, 2, 3], 'dep_date': [1, 2, 3]}) print (df)
```
